

The Open University, The British Library, The National Library of Scotland and The National Library of Wales are offering two PhD studentships, funded by the Arts and Humanities Research Council (AHRC), for research based on the collections of one or more of the library partners.

- Studentship 1 is in History \(Digital Heritage/Crowdsourced Data\) , with a particular interest in evaluating or utilising crowdsourced historical data for historical research.
- Studentship 2 is in English \(E-Manuscripts/E-Archives\) ), with a particular emphasis in utilising born-digital e-manuscripts/e-archives for literary research.

For further particulars, application forms and terms and conditions, please follow the links above.

The closing date for applications is 31 March 2013.