KING'S College
LONDON

The Department of Digital Humanities (DDH) is looking for a number of skilled developers to join its Research and Development team. These posts all involve implementation and functional design work (in collaboration with other members of the R&D team and external partners) across two - three varied and challenging research projects.

The closing date is 13th September 2012 with interviews to be held during the week beginning 17th September 2012.

Please follow this link to find out details: http://www.jobs.ac.uk/enhanced/linking/kings/aug2012/linkingpage.html